Editor's Letter

Cherokee county Genealogical Society held its second Family History Fair on April 18, 2015. The schedule and speakers are listed beginning on page 111. Carol Taylor's handouts for Beginning Genealogy from the Fair begin on page 113.

The Restoration of Martha Ellen Hackerd's Grave by Mary E. Marsh begins on page 121.

O. T. Allen's Register of Funerals, Alto, Texas 1937-1951 continues on page 123.

At the 31st Annual Jacksonville Tomato Festival, Mr. Tomato stopped by the Genealogy Society's booth to ask President Gordon Bennett to help him trace his ancestors. Perhaps renowned Jacksonville tomato farmer, David Claiborne, should be brought into this discussion as well!

WHEN TO LOOK FOR GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS

Any time your ancestor may have had some dealing with the Federal government, you should look for a record. The best place to start is at the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) website, www.archives.gov. Go to the Research Our Records page, scroll down to Research Your Ancestry. There you will find descriptions of documents held by the NARA, but you will be directed to www.Fold3.com or www.FamilySearch.org. Below is a list of circumstances in which your ancestor may have a record at the National Archives.

Was involved in military activities

Had claims for losses based on military actions

Was involved in any dealings or transactions with the government, including criminal cases

Settled in a frontier area

Suffered from any disaster

Sought relief from an “unjust” law or code – local, state, national

Attended a government institution/joined a government organization

Was a Native American or involved with Native Americans

Was a member of a wave of immigrants

Was a member of a minority or oppressed group

Was involved in transportation, commerce, or banking

Served as a government official

Records pertaining to interaction with state and local governments will probably be kept at the state archives or at the local courthouse.

PERIODICAL SOURCE INDEX (PERSI)

PERSi is the largest subject index to genealogy and local history periodical articles in the world. Created by the staff of the Allen County Public Library in Fort Wayne, Indiana, it is recognized as a vital tool for genealogical researchers. Articles in 11,000 periodical titles (including 3,000 defunct titles) published by thousands of local, state, national and international genealogy and local history societies, there are more than 2.25 million entries by surname or location.

PERSi is free at HeritageQuestOnline.com available through TexShare at your local library.

PERSi is a subject index to articles, not an every name or every word index.

Record types include:

Biography	Military Records
Cemeteries	Naturalization
Census Records	Obituaries
Church Records	Miscellaneous Records
Court Records	Passenger Lists
Deeds	Probate Records
Directories	School Records
History	Tax Records
Institutions	Vital Records
Land Records	Voter Records
Maps	Wills

What PERSi does not index

- Every name in every article
- Queries, ancestor charts, family group sheets
- Society officers, membership lists, meeting notices
- Book and computer software reviews
- Surname journals and newsletters
- Page numbers

The Family Search Wiki has an excellent article describing in detail the best ways to use PERSi.

Restoration of Martha Ellen Hackerd's Grave By Mary E. Marsh

This is the story of the restoration of the grave covering on my grandmother, Martha Ellen Hackerd's grave by her great grandson, Dr. John L. Marsh on May 9, 2015.

My grandfather (Dad's father) moved his family from Indiana to Jacksonville, Texas in about 1904. H. H. Hackerd was a brick mason. He worked with C. R. Kelley to build Lon Morris College with Twin Towers. Also, he worked on the Baptist Church and sidewalks in Jacksonville. (The sidewalks have C.R. Kelley on them 'til yet!!)

In 1914 this brick mason's beloved wife died at age 60 years 10 months and was buried in Larissa Cemetery. H.H. Hackerd covered her grave with a cement slab and gently placed his right hand print in the damp cement on the lower right corner of it. He returned to Indiana leaving his wife and youngest daughter at Larissa Cemetery near Jacksonville. Henry Harrison Hackerd died in 1927 in Indiana and was buried there.

I don't remember when my Daddy, Hoyt Hackerd showed me the hand print and told me about his dad, but we would carefully dust it off and place my hand there. Through the years my children, my grandchildren and now my great grandchildren have placed their hands there.

I discovered a few weeks ago that the corner hand print part was broken off from the main slab. My son was visiting from San Antonio. We lifted the cover off and took it to my home to take care of it until John came again on Mother's Day weekend May 2015.

John said the restoration of the grave covering would be his "project". It was!, as pictures taken show the process of work as we replaced the hand print and added mine at the left corner. I believe John's great grandfather would have said "Good job son"!

I thanked him so much for the preservation of part of our heritage!
